

CCTV Center for Media & Democracy

<https://www.cctv.org/news/calling-media-activists-cctv-board>

Calling Media Activists to the CCTV Board

A Note from CCTV's Board Chair. CCTV Center for Media & Democracy has three board openings for inquiring minds, activists and leaders who want to bring their mission and skills to help good ideas spread like wildfire across the democratic sky. Do you have an affinity for people powered media? Are you willing to be a front line champion? Do you like to work in groups to make change happen? Does risk and opportunity fire you up? Do you have specific skills in finance, governance, organizing, community building? If so, we'd love to talk with you!

CCTV Center for Media & Democracy was established in 1984 to mobilize public, educational and government access cable TV. Since then Vermont has developed 25 community media centers serving dozens of communities through TV and internet "channels". Over 35+ years, CCTV has pioneered many ways of building community through media--from Town Meeting TV and CCTV Productions to the Old North End Community Technology Center to Common Good Vermont.

During this transition from cable TV to internet delivery, we are looking for innovative and inspired Board members to help us diversify our revenue, including legislative support.

This is an exciting time to join the Board.

Please send us an email at davitian '@' cctv.org Thank you.

Erin Malone, CCTV Board President

Recommendations - Add to

Kaelyn Murray from CCV * - MO

Chol Door - MO reaching out, lives with Alison

Owen Milne - Sailing Center * - LGD

Deb Ellis - UVM, Media Factory - She is on Media Factory Board.

Mugabo Theirry, Educator * - Not right now

Beth Sachs - Community Educator - Have not reached out.

Hope Greene - Public Media Consultant - Helping with Development right now.

Rabin Dahal (Spectrum)

Jacob Bogre - AALV

Under Cultivation

Mohamad Jafar - New American Leadership Council Member - Shay 10/31

Possible Sources

Younger interns

Dru Roessle - Facilitator * - Interested in helping, but not as a Board member.

Matt Daly - Local Legal * - Interested in 2023

Add to that list: Former Members of the Town Meeting TV Board.

Howard Wooden?