Dear EWSD Board and Administration,

The EWSD calendar is full of noted days for special celebration including, for example, Aztec New Year on 3-12-23 and QingMing Festival on 4-5-23; there are literally scores of special days noted on the calendar.

I'm writing to request that Detransition Awareness Day on March 12 be added to that calendar. I'm also asking that it be noted within the school public in some way: a sign added to a bulletin board, pamphlet posted on a wall, a book such as Irreversible Damage by Abigail Shrier on an easel atop the shelves in the HS library.

Within the framework of equity and inclusion, those who choose to reverse course on the current prevalent narrative should be celebrated. It is a lonely path since it travels uphill against the downhill slippery slope, but students in this marginalized group deserve our support.

Thank you for your attention.

Lynn Smith
